Family Histories

I want to write my family's story! WHERE DO I START?

No matter what kind of story or book you want to write, getting started can be hard. It is easy to get sidetracked by months of research, piles of documents, folders full of records, and family trees a mile long. They're all important, but there are some creative ways to hang some interesting stories on those family tree branches. We'll show some easy ways to weave family anecdotes and photographs into those records to make a compelling story.

Personal Memoirs

I want to write my personal memoir!

WHO ARE YOU AND HOW DID YOU GET TO BE YOU?

This is your story! How did you become you, who helped you along the way, what did you do—what didn't you do? Should I organize it chronologically? By events? What goes into writing a memoir?

Let us help you pull it all together.

Self-Publishing Options

There are many options, which one is best for you? Middle River Press has been helping authors understand self-publishing choices and can help you decide what is best for you and your book. Bring all your questions and join Judy and Bruce Borich for this FREE presentation.

Come join Judy and Bruce Borich of Middle River Press for a discussion on how to write a family history, personal memoir, or self-publish a book you've already finished. They have been helping authors write and publish books for over 10 years! From family histories to personal memoirs and autobiographies, novels and children's books, they do it all and they do it right!
